

Berlin Program for Advanced German and European Studies

Fellows 1994 - 1995, 9th Cohort

Michael T. Allen history University of Pennsylvania	Engineering and Modern Management in the Nazi SS: The Wirtschaftsverwaltungsamt
Alexander Arguelles (postdoc) history of religion University of Chicago	Resurrecting Myths and Religion of the Teutonic Past: The Neo-Teutonic Societies in Late Nineteenth-Century Germany
Jefferson S. Chase German literature University of Virginia	Mortiz Saphir and the Politics of Humor in Nineteenth-Century German Culture
Cecilia Chessa political science University of Washington	Democratic Consolidation in East Germany and Poland: Civil Society as the Basis for a Comparative Approach
Lisa J. Conant political science University of Washington	Judicial Contributions to Integration: Member State Reactions to Policymaking of the European Court of Justice
Adam R. Daniel history University of Chicago	The Social Politics of Mass Spectacle: Discourses and Practices of Cinema Censorship in Germany before 1933
Berit E. Dencker sociology University of California at San Diego	Culture, Class, and Politics in German Popular Nationalism, 1850-92
Hannah E. Kettler Economics University of Notre Dame	The Impact of Central Planning Legacies on the Transformation of East German Enterprises
Diane Lakein anthropology University of Michigan	Discursive Practices of Germanness and Race: A Comparative Look at an Eastern and Western Berlin District
David J. Levin (postdoc) German literature Columbia University	From Der Golem to Jud Süß: A Psychological History of the Strange Alliance between Outsiders, Jews, and Cinema in Weimar Film
S. Jonathan Wiesen history Brown University	Reconstruction and Recollection: German Industrial Elites and the Challenge of Memory, 1945-65
Jonathan Zatlin history University of California at Berkeley	The Currency of Socialism: Money in the GDR and German Unification, 1980-90