

Panel “History & Memory” November 28–29, 2011

Monday, November 28

Gabrielle Spiegel (Johns Hopkins University) The History and Historiography of Memory Studies
Martin Sabrow (Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin / Centre for Contemporary History, Potsdam) “German Aufarbeitung”. Historical Narration in a Post-Heroic Memory Society
Dan Diner (The Hebrew University of Jerusalem / Simon Dubnow Institute, Leipzig) “Bloodlands” – History’s Topographical Memory

Tuesday, November 29

Dong-Choon Kim (Sungkonghoe University, Seoul) Revival of Suppressed Memories Against the Monopolized Narrative of the Korean War
Elizabeth Jelin (Consejo Nacional de Investigaciones Científicas y Técnicas / Instituto de Desarrollo Económico y Social, Buenos Aires) Evolving Memories, Evolving Presents. A Historical Perspective on the Struggles for Memories
Alon Confino (University of Virginia) History and Memory: a History of a Relationship
Public Panel Discussion History and Memory – Subjective Constructions vs. Master Narratives. An Insurmountable Divide?

SPONSORED BY THE

Federal Ministry of Education and Research