

Newly enrolled: what next?

Organizing your studies and computer-supported registration for modules (Campus Management)

First, find out all about your programme and read the study regulations and examination regulations. You can find these online at: <http://www.fu-berlin.de/en/studium/studienorganisation/pruefung/>

We also offer the following events for your information to help you organize your studies from the start:

Information event for national Bachelor and Master students on all programmes starting in the Summer Semester 2018 (with introduction to Campus Management, also useful for Master students who have moved to Freie Universität Berlin)

- Tuesday, 03 April 2018: 14.15-16.45, lecture hall 2, Habelschwerdter Allee 45

Orientation days for international students at Freie Universität Berlin

- Beginning Tuesday, 03 April 2018, 10.00 lecture hall 1a/b, Habelschwerdter Allee 45

Introductory events for individual programmes

You can find an overview of the events usually offered before lectures start at: http://www.fu-berlin.de/studium/information\_a-z/orientierung.html

You can also find information on departmental advisory services which support you in putting together your timetable for your first semester at the website above or in the online lecture list (<http://www.fu-berlin.de/vv/>).

Please attend the introductory and orientation events first before making firm commitments to registration for lectures in the online system (Campus Management).
