

AiS Training: Funding Your Research

Online workshop 11. November 2022, 9:00-15:00 + 1.5 hrs online pre-teaching

This training provides an overview of the German research funding landscape focusing on funding opportunities available to researchers at the postdoctoral stage. Selected EU programs are also covered. Practice scenarios for different research settings help to understand how to select and approach individual funding programs to build resources and capabilities for further career advancement.

Target Group

Displaced and at-risk scholars at the postdoctoral level.

Your benefits

By participating in the training, you will be better equipped to

- recognize the opportunities and challenges associated with external research funding,
- identify funding opportunities for different research settings,
- understand what makes a fundable research project,
- develop a competitive research proposal, build a research grant track record

Methods

This compact workshop training employs theoretical input, plenary discussions, individual and small group work, experience sharing, coaching elements and expert advice. It is limited to 12 participants and will be presented in English.

Trainer

Thomas Koch is a research management consultant and certified business trainer and coach. He provides hands-on workshops and individual guidance for researchers to realize their research ideas and career objectives. He also supports higher education institutions and research consortia in implementing strategic initiatives and preparing grant proposals. Holding a PhD in physical chemistry from the UK, he builds on 10 years of international experience as a researcher and 12 years of professional experience as a research manager and senior administrator at universities in Bochum (RUB) and Munich (LMU).
