Call for Papers [Extended deadline: March 15, 2018]

Strange Bedfellows / Unexpected Allies

Keynote Speaker:

Mary Lindemann

German Studies Association President 2017-2018

Professor and Chair, Department of History, University of Miami

From de Gaulle to Khrushchev, from the Christian Democrats to displaced refugees, from Putin to Trump, from the drag queen Olivia Jones to right-wing politician Frauke Petry, politics can make for “surprising partnerships.” It was William Shakespeare who wrote in The Tempest that “Misery acquaints a man with strange bedfellows.” Both in Germany and beyond, the recent past has been experienced as a disorienting period by many. Debates about post-truth, post-liberalism, and post-humanism reflect seismic cultural shifts and pose the question whether we have entered a new political era. Thus, the phrase “politics makes strange bedfellows” captures our own Zeitgeist in most succinct fashion.

These are perplexing times to be certain. But peculiar alliances or combinations are common in a variety of historical and political contexts as well as in a diverse array of cultural and artistic engagements. The Berlin Program Summer Workshop 2018 invites contributions from scholars, artists, representatives of cultural institutions, and engaged others on the topic of “strange bedfellows” as well as “unexpected allies.”

This workshop seeks to advance critical reflection on these phenomena, their usefulness and potential limits as narrative devices in a broad array of disciplines that intersect with German Studies, including Anthropology, Art History, Film Studies, Gender Studies, History, Philosophy, Political Science, and Sociology. Possible topics include, but are by no means limited to:

- Studies of individuals, collectives or networks engaged in alliance building in contemporary or historical context
- Unexpected coalitions in political, economic, or social contexts
- Histories of political realignment
- Cultural expressions of unexpected solidarity
- Analyses of unexpected social integration of diverse groups
- Anthropological studies of subcultural group interactions
- Studies in linguistic transformations informed by unusual circumstances
- Aesthetic objects bridging unanticipated terrain
- Technical developments or emerging media forms bridging divides
- Theoretical approaches to collaborations among political, social, cultural “odd couples”

FORMAT: The event serves as a forum for Berlin Program fellows and alumni, but invites participation of all other scholars. During the workshop, scholars will present for ten minutes on papers that participants will have read prior to the workshop. A substantial period of time will be reserved at the end of the panels for discussion of the papers.

APPLICATION & DEADLINE: Please submit one PDF file containing a 250-word abstract and a two-page CV by March 15, 2018 to bprogram@zedat.fu-berlin.de

REQUIREMENTS: Presenters are required to submit a 25-page paper or an existing publication of similar length and a one-page bio for circulation to workshop participants by May 31, 2018. All workshop participants are asked to read these submissions prior to the workshop. A selection of two or three optional background readings may also be circulated.

SUGGESTIONS FOR BACKGROUND READINGS: Presenters will be invited to suggest one text (max. 25 pages) for the optional background reading list.

The Berlin Program for Advanced German and European Studies promotes North American scholars in the humanities and the social sciences working on dissertation or postdoctoral research projects on Germany and/or Europe. In close cooperation with our North American partner, the German Studies Association, our Summer Workshop and other events offer opportunities to engage with timely topics and strengthen ties between the program and scholars working in these fields.
