Dahlem Research School | Center for Early Career Researchers (DRS) is the central institution of Freie Universität Berlin (FUB) for researchers in their early qualification and career phase. Our task is to promote good conditions for early career researchers at Freie Universität Berlin.

We provide information and advice on all aspects of doctoral research and offer an inspiring qualification program. Doctoral programs at Freie Universität may become members of Dahlem Research School. We support our member programs in their quality assurance.

We also recommend offers from
