Prospects

Many graduates from the Biochemistry Master's program at FUB continue to obtain their PhD. Thereafter, graduates can work in very different occupations. Many remain in research while others go on to work in pharmaceutical or biotech companies.

On the following pages, you can read short interviews with FUB Biochemistry graduates working in various occupational fields. They describe how they decided to pursue their profession, provide insights into their professional life and explain what skills and competences they need on a regular basis at work.

Lisa Neidhardt, PhD student

Sana Khan Khilji, PhD student

Dr. Holger Sieg, Junior Research Group Leader

Dr. Alexander Ulrich, Research Scientist

The program description of each master's program includes information about:

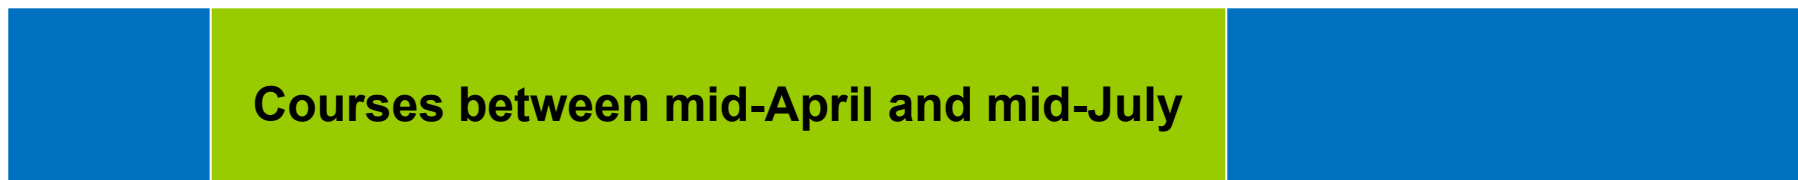

- ✓ course content
- ✓ (video) interviews with lecturers and (former) students
- ✓ example assignments
- ✓ student feedback and perspectives

Application and Admission Processes for Master's Programs

Application Process in 6 Steps

Step 1: Check the admission requirements

Each master program has its own regulations regarding admission as well as how many students are admitted (Zugangssatzung), hence each master has specific admission requirements.

Where do I find this information?

- First, refer to the program description available online: <https://www.fu-berlin.de/en/studium/studienangebot/master/index.html>

Types of Master programmes

Consecutive Master

- undergraduate degree in the same or a similar field of study
- sometimes specialization, credit points in specific modules
- German language skills if required
- English language skills if required
- In some cases further language skills

Master of Education

- university degree with specific amount of credits in didactics and pedagogy from a German university
- German language skills
- often further language skills

Continuing Education Master

- university degree
- vocational experiences of at least 12 months in the field of study
- often German language skills
- often further language skills
- programs charge tuition fees

Admission Requirements: Example

Example: M.Sc. Finance,
Accounting and Taxation
(German-language program)

Consecutive Master

- undergraduate degree in the same or a similar field of study
- sometimes specialization, credit points in specific modules
- German language skills if required
- English language skills if required
- In some cases further language skills

▲ Admission Requirements

For admittance to the master's program applicants need to fulfill the following admission requirements:

- Bachelor's degree in economics or law with a minimum of 45 credit points in the foundations of business taxation, business and public finance, and managerial and finance accounting and in legal areas related to economics; as well as a minimum of 5 credit points in microeconomics and a minimum of 18 credit points in the foundations of mathematics (a minimum of 6 credit points), foundations of statistics (a minimum of 6 credit points), and economic computer science; or an equivalent degree.
- Proof of English language skills (level B2 CEFR or equivalent).
- Ability to conduct supervised work on subjects in the area of economic theory or legal subjects using scholarly methods as exhibited by the presentation of a final paper in German or English, usually a bachelor's thesis or a comparable work (at least 15 pages).

The DSH - or German Language University Entrance Exam for Foreign Students - is obligatory for all applicants whose first language is not German and who have earned their initial degree from a university (or equivalent institution) where the language of instruction is not German.

Further information about admission requirements can be found on the program's website.

Admission Requirements: Example

Consecutive Master

- undergraduate degree in the same or a similar field of study
- sometimes specialization, credit points in specific modules
- German language skills if required
- English language skills if required
- In some cases further language skills

▲ Admission Requirements

For admittance to the master's program applicants need to fulfill the following admission requirements:

- An above average degree on par with a Bachelor in History, Regional Studies, or a related field that includes equivalent historical or regional topics (minimum of 60 credits), which can be proven with a transcript of records. In all cases, at least 60 credits must be accredited from historical or regional courses.
- The MA Global History is an English-language program. Therefore, all applicants to the program must prove that they have English skills at a C1 (CEFR) level or higher. For more information, please visit the homepage of the master's program.

*Example: M.A. Global History

Application Process in 6 Steps

Step 3: Apply for a Visa

- Do I need a visa?
 - Check <https://www.auswaertiges-amt.de/en/visa-service/visabestimmungen-node>
- Where do I apply for a visa?
 - Contact the German embassy or consulate in your home country. You can find the addresses of the German embassy or consulate here: <https://www.auswaertiges-amt.de/en/about-us/auslandsvertretungen>
 - Information on how to apply and what documents to submit are available at the website of the respective German embassy or consulate.

Application Process in 6 Steps

Step 4: Wait for the Selection Process to Be Completed

Selection quotas in master's programs with restricted admission:

5 % hardships

Remaining study places:

20 % wait time

80 % university quota*

*calculation depends on the admission statues of each master's program; usually the grade-point-average (GPA) of your bachelor's degree plus additional points for vocational experience, subject-related specialisations, and/or an interview.

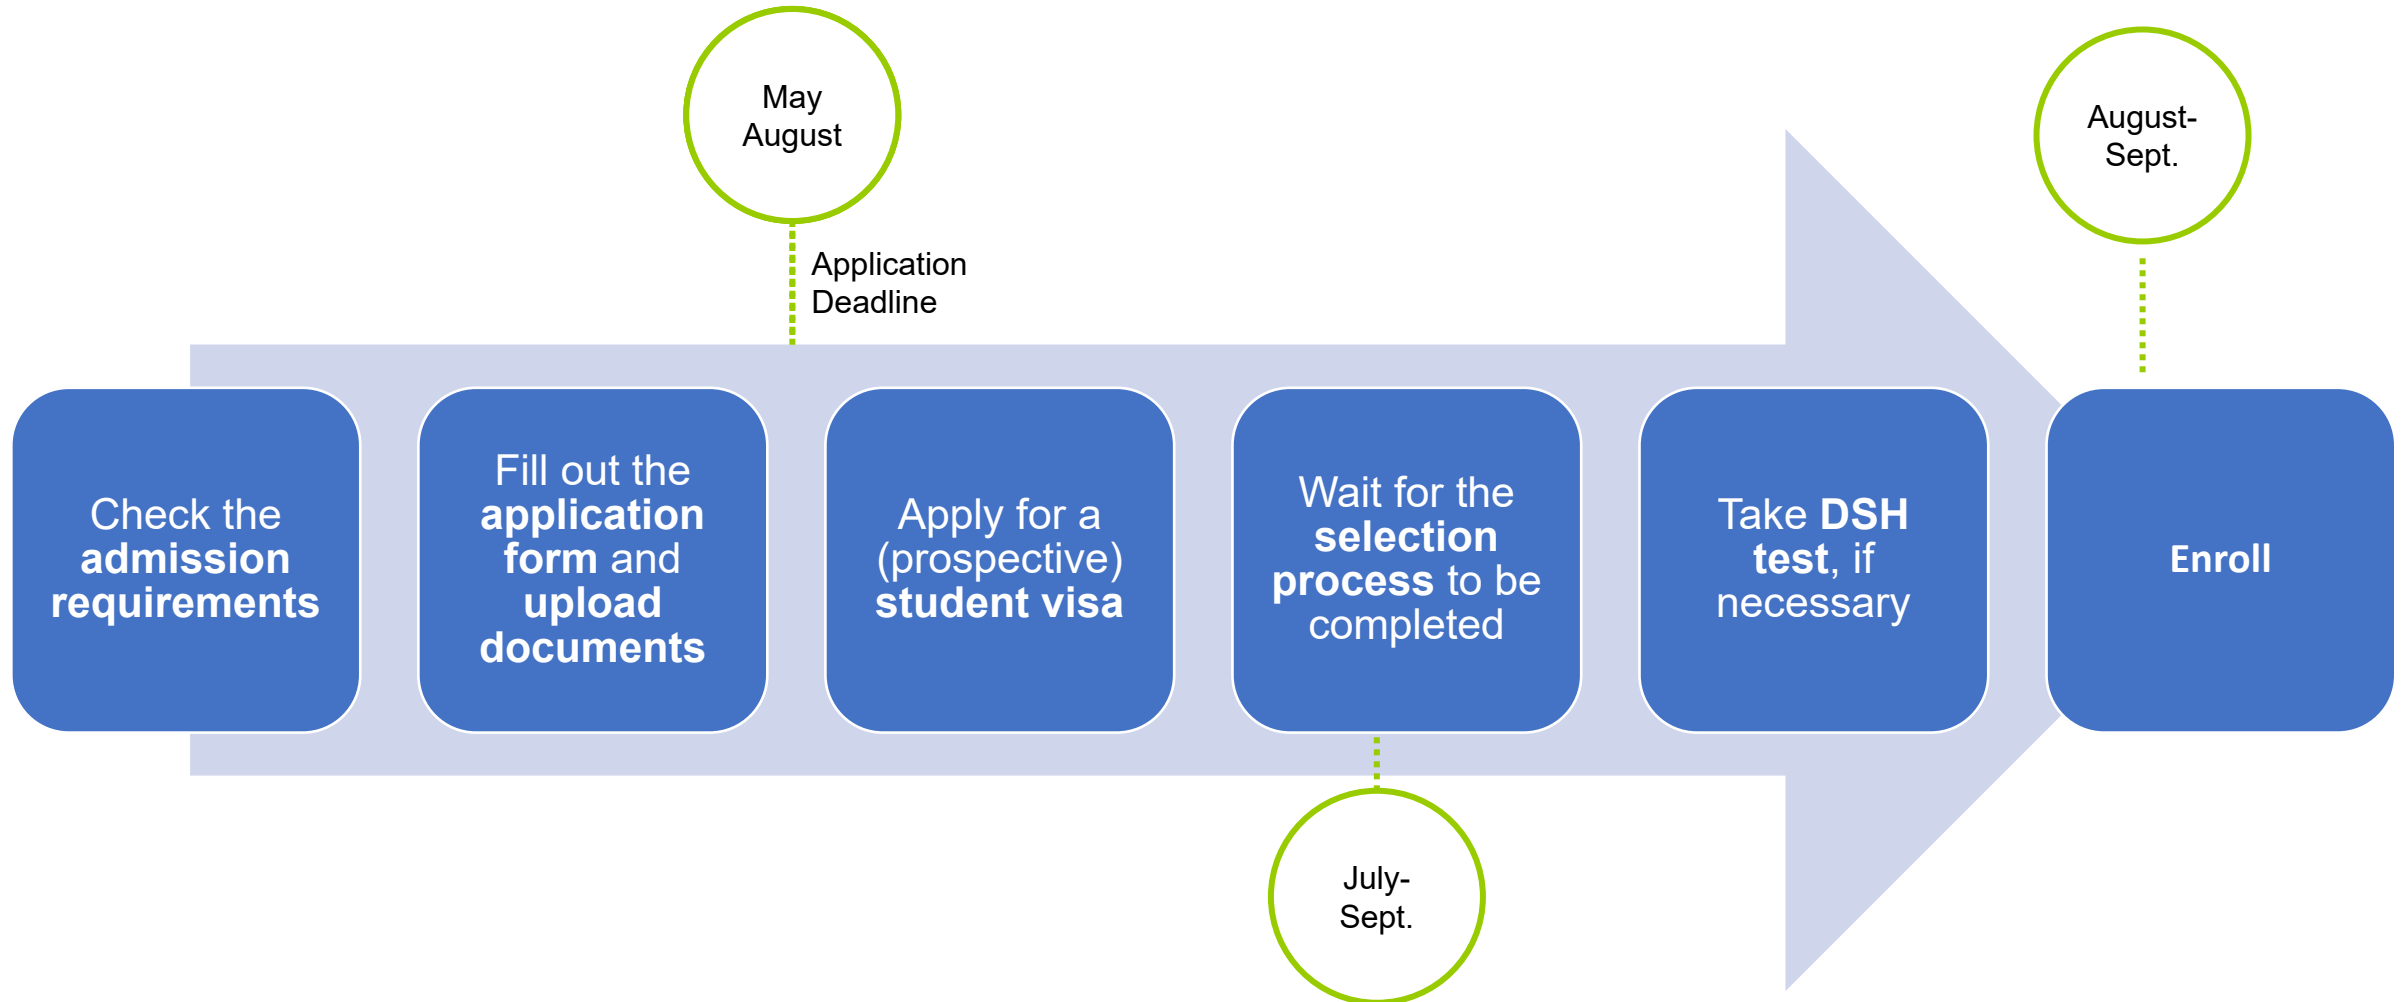

Tips

Regularly check your account in the application portal of Freie Universität Berlin. Notifications regarding admission will be available there.

Have questions regarding your application? Contact the Info-Service:

info-service@fu-berlin.de

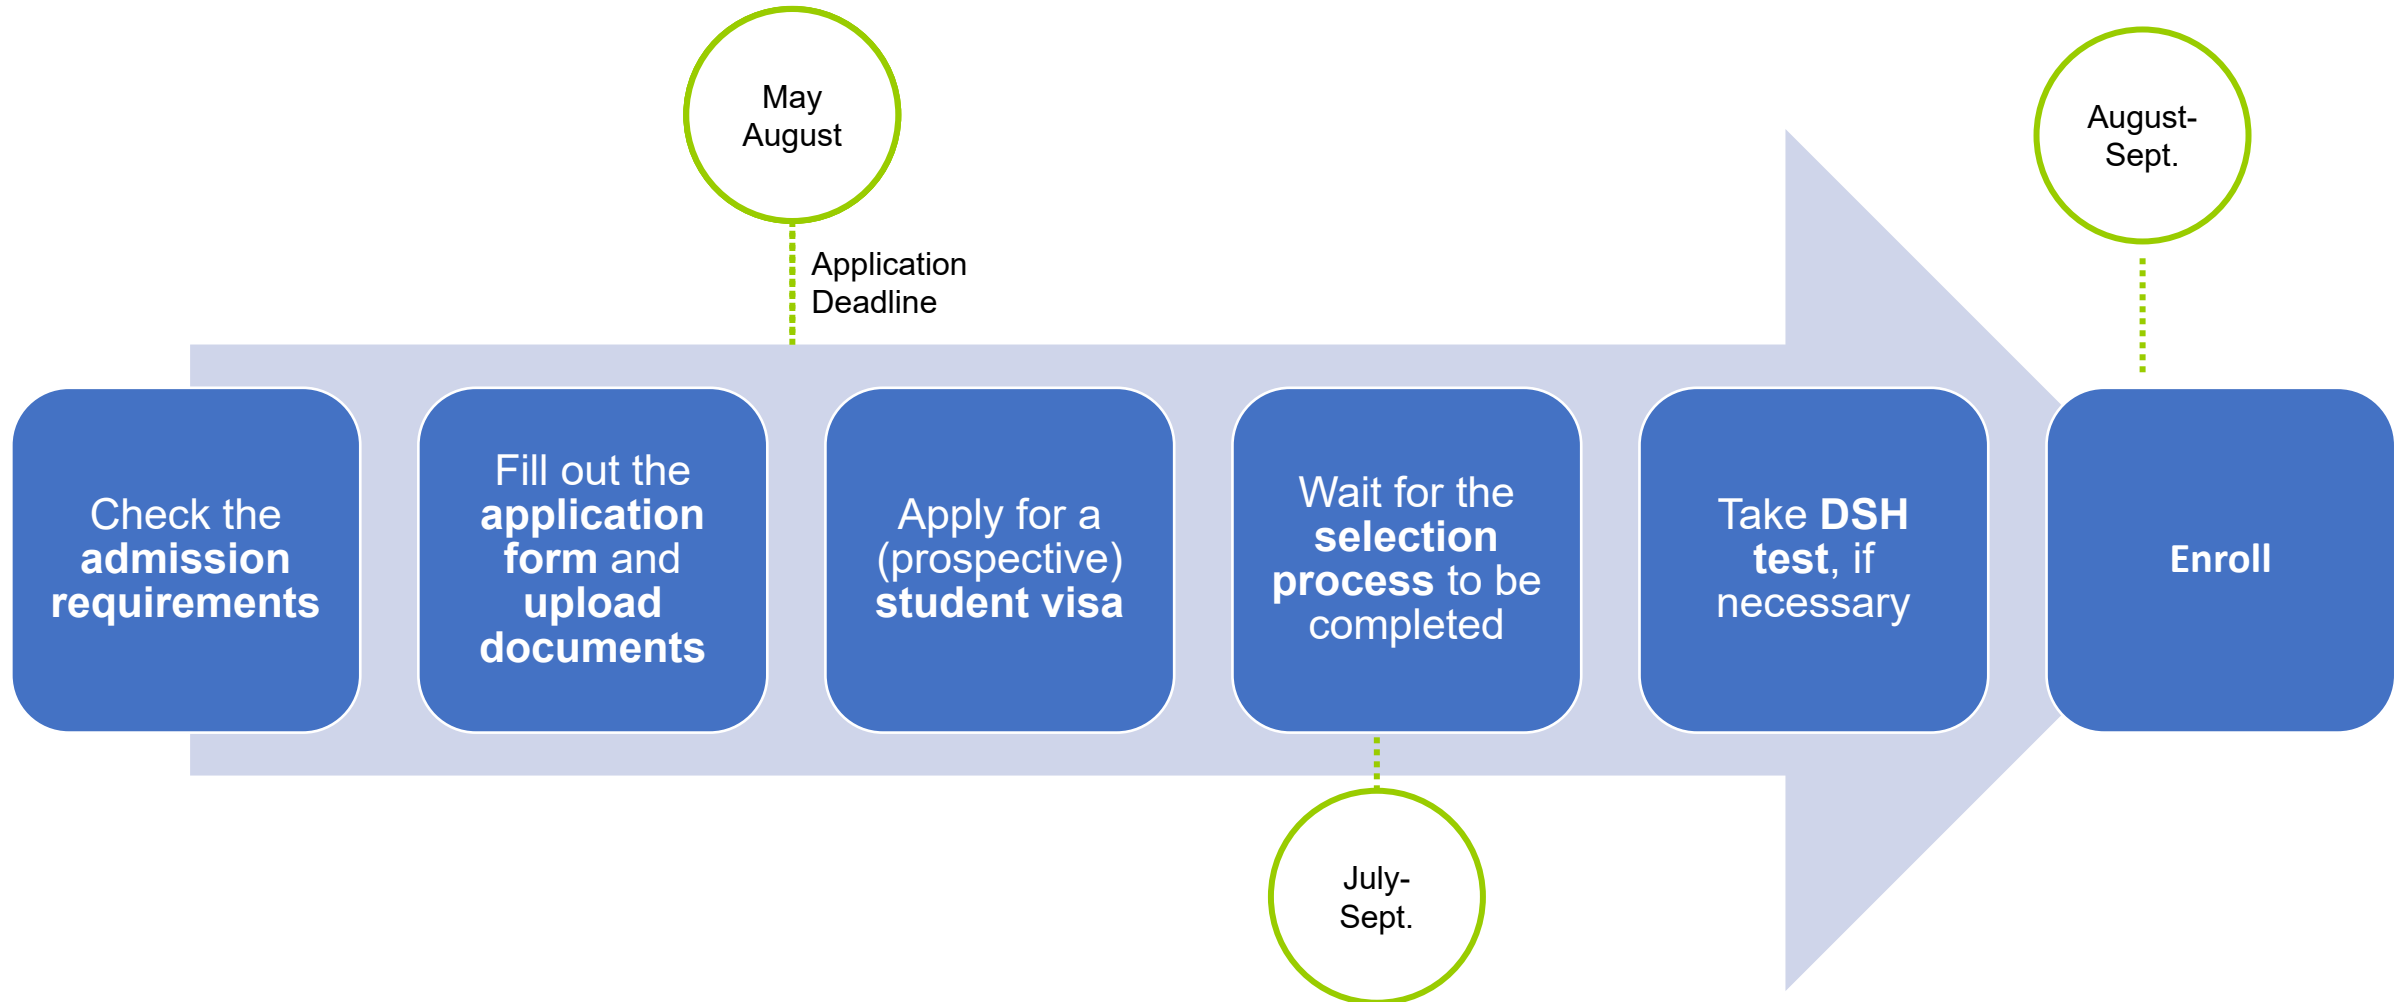

Application Process in 6 Steps

Step 5: Take the DSH test if necessary

- You only need to take the DSH exam for those master's programs that are taught in German
- If you have an equivalent (see step 1), you do not need to take the DSH test
- Information on DSH test: <https://www.fu-berlin.de/en/studium/bewerbung/portale/index.html>
(available only in German)

Application Process in 6 Steps

Step 6: Enroll

- You will receive a notification of enrollment (or a rejection notice if you have not been accepted) in the application portal.
- The enrollment deadline will be specified there. You can only accept the offered study place and complete the online data entry within the enrollment period. If you do not complete the online data entry by the deadline, the admissions offer will expire and the study place will be given to another applicant.
- Information on enrollment and required documents can be found here: <https://www.fu-berlin.de/en/studium/bewerbung/immatrikulation/unterlagen/index.html>
